My dear General:

You will have to excuse my tardiness in acknowledging your very fine briefing given me on 29 August, but I have been very busy on trips out of town and being exposed to further briefings here in Washington, ever since that date. However, I thoroughly enjoyed the briefing you had arranged and it greatly clarified many gaps in my knowledge of how your organization works. I am sure I will find that knowledge useful in the future. Please express to the members of your organization who were so helpful in making presentations, my sincere thanks.

With all best personal regards, and I hope I may see you in the Mediterranean in the near future.

I am,

Most sincerely,

C. E. EKSTROM
